Luke Overmire – Creative Director

Having worked in both hospital and retail pharmacy settings, Luke has expertise in pharmacy processes and procedures, and has taken an active role in improving patient care through pharmacy process improvement. For the past 10 years, Luke has worked with various hospitals across the US on reviewing comparative analytics, improving pharmacy processes, and implementing automated dispensing systems. Luke's passion is in working with clients on data review: implementing software and processes, interpreting data, and taking additional action based on that data, as needed. He has worked with software companies to improve their offerings in this area and has also worked with federal investigators on cases that warranted it. Luke has a BA in Communication from Aquinas College, and is working on an MS in Health Communication at Boston University.
