Kevin is a proud graduate of Elder High School Class of 1998. Kevin continued his education at Cincinnati State Technical College where he attended classes to become an EMT-B. After shadowing a Cincinnati Police Officer during a ride assignment, Kevin realized that being a police officer was his calling. He entered the Ohio Peace Officer Training Academy in 2001 and has enjoyed this line of work since day one. Kevin was hired as a police officer, with the Elmwood Place Police Department September 2001 and remained there for 14 years. He was assigned to a small local drug task force and continued his investigation education in the field of narcotics. In 2013, He was promoted to Police Lieutenant in charge of all felony crimes with focus on narcotics and drug diversions case work. Kevin has attended numerous courses, conferences and presentations related to drug trafficking and drug diversion.

Currently Kevin is employed by a large health system in the Greater Cincinnati Area as a security officer where he handles drug diversion investigations for multiple locations within the system. Kevin is well educated in best practices related to health diversion within a healthcare setting. He has gained the professional respect of local, state and federal authorities as well as regulatory board personnel due to his case work in addition to his presentation of case work within the board setting.

Kevin currently resides in the Northern Kentucky area with his supportive wife Erin and two daughters. Please contact Kevin at kvanover@ihfda.org .
